

luxury online

styles, systems,
strategies

Uché Okonkwo

palgrave macmillan

Contents

List of Tables and Figures	ix
List of Case Analyses	xvii
Foreword	xviii
Acknowledgments	xx
Author's Note	xxiii
Introduction: Moving beyond slow motion	1
Part One: Getting It!
1 Is luxury (still) afraid of the Internet?	11
2 Connected luxury	26
3 Web 2.0, the social web (or whatever you prefer to call it) is real!	41
Features and functions of the social web	50
The upside of the social web	55
The dark side of the social web	58
Blogging your life away	61
The blogosphere	71
What should luxury brands be doing about blogs?	79
A look at how blogs will evolve	84
The online world of social networks	86
What should luxury brands be doing about social networks?	96
e-communities	102
Virtual immersive worlds	104
Beyond the social web: what will happen after the frenzy?	107
Part Two: Doing It!
4 The e-experience: creating more than a luxury website	111
It's not just about having a website	111
Living the luxury e-experience	115
Moving beyond the webmosphere to the luxemosphere	119
Designing the "winning" luxury website	146
Now to the main issue: creating the luxury website	155
The 7-Cs of luxury website creation	155
5 Let's talk: communicating the luxury message online	182
Giving way to the new communications style	187

The magazine madness	192
Strategies and approaches for online communications	198
Communicating through the luxury brand's own website	202
Communicating through online media websites	206
The social web communications dilemma	208
Doing it well and avoiding the don'ts	213
6 The art of selling the dream online	215
The 360° e-retail experience	219
Crafting the integrated e-retail strategy	223
Creating the luxury e-boutique	231
The front office	232
The back office	243
The discount dilemma	248
The sample sale syndrome	251
The temporary ownership movement	255
Sellers and counterfeiters	257
7 e-people are real people	262
A look at the current luxury client	263
Cracking today's luxury client	268
The international luxury client	269
Rewarding the online luxury client	271
From e-people to what people?	273
8 Beyond the Internet: mobile technology and innovation for luxury	278
The mobile luxury debate	280
Technology and innovation for luxury	291
Creating products through body scanning	292
Extending the product through innovation	295
Re-defining product functionality through materials	298
Store merchandizing through innovation and interactive screening	300
9 A look at the best and worst practices of luxury online	307
The Watch Avenue challenges the virtual location notion	308
Luxury Culture paves the way for the online luxury experience	313
Viktor & Rolf changes the look of luxury online	318
Learning from the worst practices	323
Epilog: Q &amp; A with Uché	325
Bibliography	331
Glossary of luxury online terms	337
Index	353